CAROL CULLEN

It is with deep regret that we report that Club member Carol Cullen was killed in a fall on Mount Egmont shortly before 10a.m. on Saturday, 3rd July 1982.

Carol was with a party of 14 Club members staying at Tahurangi Lodge on the northern slopes of Mt. Egmont. Carol and two others left the Lodge in fine weather shortly after 8 a.m. with the intention of climbing to the summit by the normal poled route. At about 2200 metres, near the Lizard, she apparently lost her footing and started sliding. She lost her ice axe while trying to self arrest and slid 700 metres down the slope and over bluffs. The slope was of moderate steepness where she slipped. The snow was frozen, smooth and ideal for cramponing.

Carol was well known for her physical fitness, infectious enthusiasm and cheerfulness. Carol was a Committee member and the newsletter editor. The Club extends its sincerest condolences to Carol's family and friends.

Full obituary will follow.

PREVIOUS TRIPS

Is this winter or is this not? Two brilliant cloudless days greeted the fifteen hardy trampers for the three peaks trip. Three of the party walked between and climbed all of the peaks, while the rest were content with ascents of Tongariro and Ngauruhoe, the latter fulfilling along time ambition of the narrator.

11 July – KAWHATAU BASE – MANGAWEKA

Two keen (?) individuals recently managed to persuade each other to tackle a day trip to Hikurangi.

Actually, this wasn't exceptionally difficult, as a certain club member desperately wanted to take his four-day-old Mazda 323 for a long drive.

All were unquestionably successful (i.e. the car, the drive, the tramp and the trampers). Light mist, little wind, relatively compact snow and good views of the snow covered main range resulted in an interesting and worthwhile day.

Catherine Farquhar and Peter Darragh.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH:

"I'm not going tramping again".

Dr. Trev Bissell Esq.

(upon returning from a wet attempt to visit the Garden of Eden).
