(Tech) refers to trips graded technical requiring either special skills and / or gear.

Members are reminded that a charge for transport will be collected on the day of the trip, the amount depending on the distance traveled and vehicles used. Leaders should be able to give an estimate in advance.

EDITORIAL

"Tramping" and "Mountaineering", now that sounds interesting ...and there's a speaker on "Patagonia" at the next club night ...right, of my chuff, let's go ....

So started my career with the club last year. Now I' am helping to run the show as a new committee member. First task: Editorial for the Newsletter. And I volunteered! - such commitment - even I am impressed.

Actually the "mountaineering" bit made me hesitate at first... Out of my league ... too serious of intent. A decidedly significant step upwards from my experience with the Te Aroha and Districts Tramping Club. Our "mountain trips" were definitely pitched at the "non-technical" end of the scale. Still, in terms of promoting the enjoyment' of the Great Outdoors, they were a huge success and broadened our horizons immensely.

With the move down here came fresh opportunities, a whole new region to explore, new skills to develop and new friends to be made.

But "mountaineering"? Oh, I've been in the mountains before Arthur's Pass, Annapurna, Mt Kenya, Grindlevald, Mont Blanc ... but not REALLY "mountaineering". I've even experienced altitude sickness and been dug out of an avalanche on Ruapehu, but not really "mountaineering".

I needn't have been worried. One look at the trip card and newsletter, clearly shows just how much variety the club offer. From Easy day-walks to Technical mountain climbing. Every weekend! Amazing for such a small club. This level of activity is of course only sustainable with the keen support of the wide range of experienced trampers and climbers who are encouraged to lead trips.

Yes, this is a club of serious intent. Seriously into adventure, challenge and fun! .That'll do me nicely; thanks.

I look forward to meeting more of you over the coming months, but in the meantime Happy Tramping.

Warren

We record with regret the recent death of Catherine McCarthy at Punakaiki. Catherine had enjoyed several trips with the club over the years - especially caving and tramping. Our sympathy to Jenny, Steve and Catherine's many friends.

NEXT COMMITTEE MEETING

If you are unable to make it or expect to be late, please ensure that your apology is forwarded to the secretary in advance. Next meeting at Nigel Scott's place 146 Salisbury Street Ashhurst.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

At the AGM, it was resolved that subscriptions would remain unchanged for 95/96. They are - Ordinary $25, Family $30 and Junior $10. Please get your subs into the treasurer as soon as possible.

MAPS

If you have ordered any maps -good news; they have arrived and are available from Nigel.

FORTHCOMING TRIP CARD

The Club's Trip Card for the next six months (July through to December / January) is now being prepared. If you have that favourite area you are wanting to visit, either as a day trip, weekend trip or longer, close by or far away, of whatever grade, now is the time to offer yourself as a trip leader. People have so far offered to lead various trips to the Tararua and Ruahine Ranges, TNP and ENP, Arthurs Pass and the Havelock Valley, and to nooks and crannies around the local countryside with feet, bikes, shovels, tubes or rafts being utilised. However there is still days and weekends available for more offers.

If you want to lead a trip contact either of the two Trip Convenors (Terry 356-3588, Derek 326-8178). There will be a finalising Trip Card meeting at Terry's (11 Pahiatua St) on the evening of Tues May 30th at 7:45. Prospective leaders welcome.

SNOWCRAFT COURSES

This is a preliminary note that the annual series of snowcraft courses will begin with Snowcraft 1 on the weekend of 22-23 July, with Snowcraft 2 and 3 a fortnight and four weeks later respectively. It is hoped that all those club members and prospective members who are new to the alpine world of snow will avail themselves of the opportunity to come on these progressive courses. Being competent on snow opens up a wider field of tramping: from day walks on the Ruahine tops and Ruapehu's slopes in winter; to trans-alpine summer or winter trips in the Southern Alps.

For those who are contemplating these courses the FMC "Mountaintcraft Manual" is invaluable. They are considerably discounted if purchase direct from FMC (just over $9). The club will send away for a bulk order. Let Terry or Nigel know soon.

LIBRARY

The club was alleged to have a library at one time, although I am not sure that I ever actually saw it. Be that as it may, we do not intend to revive the idea. However, a better idea has been mooted, that we should assemble a list of mountain environment books that people have and which can be borrowed. We will be working on it.

USING WHANGAEHU HUT

A new dunny should now be complete. Will it endure any longer than the previous one? Or the one before that, or the one before that? Whangaehu Hut can be booked through Sandra Steingrimsson ph/fax 07-843-8380, or write 4 Joanna Place, Hamilton.

Also, Mick has a key for the Tukino Road gate - if you think you have got what it takes to get that far!

TRIP COSTS

This question was raised again at the committee (after a lull of several years). We will be discussing it further and producing a revised trip cost list.

ROUTEBURN TRACK

The Routeburn Track has finally given in to usage pressure. DOC have introduced a booking system for prospective users. Bookings may be made from 3 July, via DOC's Great Walks Booking Desks, located in Auckland, Wellington, Dunedin, Queenstown, Glenorchy and Te Anau. The booking season lasts from 30 October until 30 April (inclusive) each year at this stage.

CLUB NIGHTS

At the AGM it was resolved that club nights will be standardised on the second and last Thursdays of the month. This will come into effect from July because the club nights for the first half of the year have been specified in the current trip card.

TRIP REPORTS

Don't forget (leaders) please get your trip reports in or use your short lived powers to delegate to an unsuspecting team member. How about a letter to the editor, perhaps, or some good gossip, or a poem or what ever. Electronic copy is the most convenient. This newsletter is prepared using Wordperfect. So I can retrieve any material in Wordperfect format (version 5, 5.1, 5.2 or 6, in either DOS or Windows). If you use Microsoft Word or a MAC, then I need an ASCII (or DOS text file) version. With a MAC, you will need a DOS formatted disc. I can only handle 3½ inch discs.

If you have DOS or Windows, and are not sure that you have saved it in ASCII format, then retrieve it into Notepad (Windows) or Edit (DOS) to check the copy. If it's OK, it's OK, if it's not, it's not!

TRIP DECISIONS?

If you decide you want to go on a trip, please ensure that you have contacted the leader by the Wednesday before, so that logistical decisions can be made. Recently, there have been some instances of people expressing an interest in a trip on the evening before - the leaders in some cases, having made other plans at that late stage.

HOW WERE THOSE HUT PASS DOLLARS SPENT?

DOC (Pohangina) have recently upgraded Mid Pohangina Hut to a luxuriously appointed affair with new bunks, sky-light, kitchen bench, porch and painted floor. An excellent spot about 3½ hours tramp from the car park. Check it out.

CONSTITUTION UPDATE

We have had the revised Constitution accepted and lodged at the Registrar of Incorporated Societies and an officially stamped copy returned. So after nearly two years, we are all legal and official again.

TRIP REPORTS

SUTHERLAND'S BUSH SUNDAY 5 March

Inland from Turakina, along the Turakina Valley road, is a little known treasure: Sutherland's Bush Reserve. This is a good place to go when you'd like to explore ,an unfamiliar bit of the countryside, stretch your legs at a strolling pace and enthuse over some beautiful native bush.

We left town at a suitably late hour of the morning, picked up the Dennisons at Sanson and arrived at the roadside around an hour later. Our late start set the tone for the slow pace of life that we all intended to enjoy that Sunday, and Sutherland's Bush was the perfect place for a relaxed stroll. For those who have laboured up the steep slopes of the Tararuas and Ruahines, and despaired of ever finding a piece of flat walking in this region; well despair no longer and visit this area soon!

Sutherland's Bush is a "Forest and Bird" Conservation Reserve and is a piece of precious bush set aside amidst the farmland. You step over the stile into another world. The first section of the track is amidst tall trees: kahikatea, tawa, rewarewa ... and at this time of the year many of the berries were visible on the ground underneath our feet. Part way round the circuit we saw some Maori food pits. A great array of ferns were in the undergrowth, along with many seedlings. One of the advantages of our slow pace was the chance to notice and enjoy the wide variety of fungi in their seasonal abundance.

We saw tuis and were followed by a number of friendly fantails. (Of course we had to slow down and stop to enjoy their company!) This is an area where cockatoos have settled; but although we heard a few cockatoo noises in the distance, we weren't treated to their raucous screeching directly overhead on this occasion.

We ended our relaxed stroll with lunch at the wooden cable cylinders that provide picnic tables under some titoki trees back at the beginning of the track. One of the children then added plastic mug to the interior of one of our cable tables, just to provide some archaeological evidence for the future, and perhaps a home for some beetles in the meanwhile.

It was a pleasant, relaxed outing and thanks for sharing an enjoyable bit of "exercise" go to trip members who were: Jo, Laurence, Fabian and Dominic O'Halloran, Chris Morey, Pauline Coy, the Dennisons, John Pike, John Lowrie and Margaret Riordan.

LONGVIEW HUT April 2

We left the city at 7:00 and headed through the Gorge up to the Eastern Ruahines along Ashley Clinton Road to the car park at Moorcock Base. We decided to hit the ridge in the morning and leave the road walk to the end of the day. The track was well marked and we quickly made our way up to the top of the ridge along to the hut. Clouds swooshed up from the valley and we had our first rain for the day as we were leaving Longview Hut. We made our way down the rather steep shoulder to the road, then headed back to the cars. We were eight in number that included, Martin Lawrence, Pauline Coy, Trevor Meyle, Monica Cantwell, Brian Glendinning, Malcolm Parker, Peter and Judy Stockdale.

WALKING AROUND GIRDLESTONE - Easter by Peter Wiles

I had yet to walk the section of the Round-the-mountain track (RTMT) from Rangipo around the south-eastern corner of Ruapehu to the Turoa Road. I had been considering doing it on and off for several years - at the right time of year and if the weather was right. I figured as a weekend trip, it could be done quite nicely by starting front the Turoa car park and climbing up towards Tahurangi and crossing the Tahurangi-Girdlestone ridge before either descending the Wahianoa valley to the RTMT, or descending the Whangaehu valley, or descending the east ridge of Mitre. In each case one could spend the night at Rangipo Hut. The second day would be spent on the RTMT as far as Blythe Hut before heading back tip to the Turoa car park and the car.

Saturday and Sunday of Easter this year was the perfect opportunity to carry out the plan. We left the car park at about 9:15 and headed up the road. We had a brief stop outside the Giant Cafe before climbing up to the top of the T-bar before sidling eastwards to the Mangaehuehue glacier. The weather was good, with slight breeze and not too much sun, but clear visibility on the glacier. We put our crampons on - and were they needed! Rock hard snow. We steadily gained the final 300 m to the ridge at the top of the glacier at 2600 m. At one point, about  $\frac{2}{3}$  of the way up the glacier, a very long crevasse threatened to cut us off, but we were able to avoid a long back-track by finding a point where we could step across a narrow section. We had lunch on the col that divides the Wahianoa and the Whangaehu valleys. Daytime cloud built up quite rapidly and the view became rather intermittent. We removed our crampons and took little time to reach the summit of Mitre. We headed down the east ridge, dislodging a fair quantity of rock in the process. The short section at the transition between the Mitre ridge and the traverse ridge to Rangipo required a bit of care. We made good time down to the hut, reaching it at about 3:30 and about 5 minutes before a party of 10 or so from AUTC.

In the morning the cloud had all sunk below the hut down over the Ranqipo Desert. We got going at 7:15 and started off southwards over the long section of rocks that the track negotiates on the eastern side of Girdlestone. We reached the Wahianoa Gorge in about an hour. The climb out on the southern side is much better graded than the descent on the northern. We were glad that the weather was almost perfect for this section of the track - if fine it can be baking hot and if bad can be both very windy and cold. After almost another hour we reached the bush. The character of the track changed dramatically - from dry barren rocks to bush and swampy clearings - many with boardwalks. We reached Mangaehuehu Hut for a late morning tea stop and spent some time chatting to the only occupant - the hut warden - a German woman who had been tramping around NZ since October.

We headed westwards, before long passing a chap who was walking around the mountain with the company of his dog! We reached Blythe Hut where it was time for lunch. Then we headed up the track towards Turoa before turning off and sidling over to the road at MUAC hut.

PURITY - THE PEGS MANGAWEKA SUMMIT - Sunday April 9 by Adam Fort

Following a rainy Saturday, eight intrepid travellers set off in unsettled weather at 7 am. After 1 hour 45 minutes drive, we started walking at 9 am. The group took divergent paths and remained separated until reaching the summit. Adam and Craig reacted to the deteriorating weather and decided to wait for the others at Purity Hut. However, after making our intentions clear in the hut log book, we set our sights on reaching Mangaweka trig before the storm arrived.

Warren and the rest of the group were 20 minutes behind at Purity Hut. Nigel headed off in pursuit of Adam and Craig, while the rest of the party followed at a more sedate pace. As the wind strengthened, we donned wet weather gear in the face of the approaching front. The summit was reached almost coincidentally with the front. Despite this, we were rewarded with some great views of the central ranges.

Meanwhile Peter Darragh and Alistair Millward were approaching from the north on their little day stroll along the bulk of the length of, the Hikurangi Range from north to south.

The lunch break was spent riding out the storm on the tops. Everyone reunited eventually at the very cosy Purity Hut oh the return. (Purity is more of a bivy than a hut with only three bunks. It is in a good location, however, for access to Waterfall Hut and the central ranges.

Nigel brewed up a pot of tea on his primus as idle chatter ensued. We left the hut by 4 pm and wandered back down to the vehicles between the intermittent showers. Nigel's van was well and truly loaded, with 10 people in it until we reached Kauwhatau base where Peter's car was waiting (Peter and Alistair making the extra two).

A refuel stop for both tanks and stomachs was appreciated at Mangaweka on the way home. We managed to have an enjoyable day with some great views and great company.

Participants: Warren Wheeler, Nigel Scott, Steward Hubbard, Monica Cantwell, Adam Fort, Craig Sharman and Anna and Kristina. The extended day trippers were: Peter Darragh and Alistair Millward
(Bassooooocoooooooooooooooooooooplayer extraordinaire!)

SUNRISE HUT 16 April by Nigel Scott

We left the car park for Ashhurst at 7:10 am. Most piled into the van and together with David, and Maree's car, we travelled through the Gorge and up to the end of Sunrise Road. We couldn't believe the number of vehicles parked up there, but being Easter we shouldn't have been too surprised.

A little misty, when we arrived and after a quick cup of coffee, we were off towards Triplex Hut. Most of us had been up the track before, and had seen the Hut, so we took a shortcut, which bypassed it. We zig-zaged our way up the ridge on the excellent track at various speeds, becoming quite spread out. Due to previous experience, this wasn't a problem.

David and Maree found tramping a little different to the rambling they were used to in England, but once they reached Sunrise Hut, they were impressed with their achievement, if not the view. The clouds, to my surprise were still in abundance considering the weather forecast, and so cameras remained in their packs for most of the day.

We wandered on up to Armstrong Saddle to have lunch, as there was virtually no wind. That was pleasing to those of us who had done trips the previous year as previously we did not manage to get past the hut because of the wind.

AFTER LUNCH

Kevin Pearce decided to go a little further a field, but returned shortly after and wandered off back down. Soon after the rest of us had had a good break we headed back towards the hut, where we decided on our routes down. Dale, Vannesa and myself were keen to take the slightly further option down into the Waipawa River and the rest were happy to return via the ascent route back to the cars.

When we reached the carpark at about 4 pm, we had rather wet feet after wading the river for about 20-30 minutes. Due to little rainfall over previous days, we didn't even get our thighs wet! The others had not long returned ahead of us, and were preparing for the trip home.

As usual, it was a very enjoyable experience for everyone and the company matched fittingly. We arrived back at Ashhurst at approx. 5:30 pm.

Attendance: Nigel Scott, Paul Murphy, Malcolm Parker, Monica Canltwell, Kevin Pearce, Lesley Findlay, Dale Lockart, David and Maree Gomes, and Vanessa Johnson.

SUNRISE - WAIPAWA LOOP - 30th April by Peter Burgess

We left the car park at the start of the track at 9: 45 am, carefully avoiding large fresh cowpats. I hoped that the filthy beasts watching malevolently from a few yards away would resist the temptation to wipe their backsides on my white car this time! The forecast was for rain and wind, but so far the tops were clear, so we kept our fingers crossed.

The track up to Sunrise Hut is well maintained and graded all the way and we climbed the 700 m to the hut in 2 hours at a leisurely pace with a couple of stops and some bird and plant spotting on the way. Fearing that the looming clouds would descend, Warren led us racing up to the top of the hill overlooking the hut where we sat and admired the view, which included the rather impressive scree slope which we would later be descending.

We decided to continue to the highest point on our route (about 1400 m) before stopping for lunch with a fine view to the north overlooking one of the tributaries of the Maropea River. It got rather cold as we ate and in fact began to sleet. This was not too uncomfortable, however, as we were sheltered from the wind.

After continuing along the ridge west for a short way we scrambled down to reach the top of the scree slope on the south side of the ridge. The scree was particularly nice and fine with only the occasional firm patch and a slight course correction required about half way. Even the least experienced scree muncher in the party was asking for more at the bottom!

There followed some scrambling in and around a stream which lead quite steeply down to the Waipawa Forks Lodge, which is a bit more basic than Sunrise Hut without the gas and with water from the stream, rather than a tank. By this stage as we looked back, the tops had become obscured by clouds and the sleet had turned to a steady drizzle, however, we counted ourselves lucky to have had good views from the ridge with relatively light winds.

The lower part of the Waipawa required numerous crossings but was straight forward with only one member of the party managing to fall in, after boasting of how her feet were still dry! We arrived back at the car a little over 6 hours after setting off which we concluded was just a comfortable length for a day tramp.

The party consisted of Anna, Hannah, Kristina, Peter and our able leader Warren.

MT ASPIRING

Bruce Van-B should have a good hold on the high achiever award this year. He and a Massey colleague climbed Aspiring late last month. Route was via French ridge, and the Ramp. Good weather was hampered by hard ice and heaps of sastrugi on the ascent. (The experiences gained on all those Egmont ascents must have come in handy, Bruce?) The climb turned out to be protracted with an overnight bivy without sleeping bags at 2500 m before descending off the Ramp back to Colin Todd. The return to civilization proved to be protracted as well. An attempt to descend off Bevan Col had to be abandoned, and French Ridge used eventually but with some unexpected and involved crevasse problems. Well done guys. More details - pending - watch this space - slides later in the year I am reliably informed.

MOUNTAIN EQUIPMENT Ltd.
14 The Square Ph 359-2162

From Hilary and Russell at Mountain Equipment

Hi folks! This is a brief piece to bring you up to date with the latest happenings at Mountain Equipment.

Wilderness clothing have released their new styles of rainwear, fleece, Geothermal underwear and accessories with some styles, the only change has been the colour range, but something like the Reflex Mountain Jacket has been changed quite dramatically. All the waterproof Reflex jackets have had changes to the hood area, and some of the pockets changed too. If you want a new jacket, Wilderness have a very good range to suit your needs.

MSR stoves have changed slightly in that they now have a "shaker jet", which is a moving needle under the jet itself. When the stove gets moved vigorously, the jet gets cleaned - less fuss and maintenance and more reliability. The very multi-fuelled XGKII stove now has different arms on it which are more stable than the previous model so when you go tramping with 15 others, those large billies are more stable in use.

Fairydown's fleece clothing and Goretex jackets have also been revised with new styles catalogue available soon. Good styles and colours means these will be popular so if we've run out of a particular style or size, ask us to get it for you.

We have a new range of thermal underwear in stock. Known by the name of the fibre, the Thermax range (made by the Thermatech people) consists of a short sleeve and long sleeve crew neck top, a short longjohn, and normal longjohns. The Thermax fibre is hollow so it holds heat very well, and it also wicks moisture very well, so if you tend to sweat a lot, this should be more comfortable than polypropylene. The fibre is quite soft to the touch, and very easy to look after.

For those very young tramping club members (6 months to 3 years) who want to go out into the hills we now have a MACPAC possum baby carrier available for hire. If you are thinking of buying one, then try it out beforehand! Hireage is $5 per day of use and a $50 bond (refundable). You may need to book ahead for this. On the same topic of younger members, Wilderness are now doing longjohns and tops in their Geothermal range in an extra small size.

Finally, we'd like to introduce some of the new faces at Mountain Equipment to you. You should know Hilary and Russell, who are there practically all the time, but do you know Matt, Kate, Kieran, Preston, Simon or Peter? Between the six of them there is a lot of knowledge of rock climbing, tramping, kayaking, mountaineering, diving, skiing and other outdoor activities. If you need advice just ask! That's all for now from the team at Mountain Equipment.
